

DISCOVERER MIGRATION TO ORACLE ANALYTICS CLOUD SERVICE

Business Problem

Oracle Discoverer is a popular reporting tool for Oracle E-Business Suite (EBS) but it is an older product and does not work with data from any source other than EBS. Also, Discoverer is no longer a supported product and as a result Oracle will provide no further product enhancements or fix any software problems. Therefore to ensure a fully supported environment, customers of Oracle Discoverer need to find an alternative reporting solution.

Solution

Oracle Analytics Cloud Service (OACS) is an excellent choice as a replacement for Oracle Discoverer. OACS is a cloud based, PaaS version of Oracle Business Intelligence that can be used to create charts with advanced visualizations for your key performance indicators and enables you to access reports from any device (laptop, tablet or mobile phone). OACS also has the ability to merge data from multiple sources including Oracle EBS.

Apps Associates has pre-built accelerators to reduce the time taken to migrate from Discoverer to OACS to less than 6 weeks. These include:

- Combination of methodology and developer code
- Pre-built reports and metrics delivered via OACS Dashboards
- Pre-built schema for out of the box Discoverer views
- Pre-built extract programs for initial and incremental load of Discoverer data into OACS Database
- Pre-built E-Business Suite security extended to OACS

The Apps Associates solution includes the rapid installation and configuration of OACS, and the migration of your data and reports from Discoverer. To encourage user adoption this solution also includes two days of end-user training and one day of administrator training.

Business results

Replacing Discoverer with Oracle Analytics Cloud Service is a cost effective option that eliminates the risk of an unsupported system, improves performance and delivers a better user experience with wider user adoption. OACS enables users to create their own reports without the help of your IT team. Furthermore Oracle Analytics Cloud Service provides improved security and a future upgrade path supported by Oracle's BI strategy.
